SCOTCH OBSERVE THE TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY
BIRTHDAY OF POET
BOBBY BURNS

The memory of the Scotch poet, Robert Burns, was honored in song and story last night by the Ogden Scottish society, an association formed by the amalgamation of the former local Caledonian and Scotch Cronies societies. The celebration was staged in the Knights of Pythias hall and was attended by several hundred Scots and other admirers of "Bobby Burns." Chief John A. Sneddon, who was chairman of the assembly and made a fine address of welcome, which included a tribute to the poet, whose birthday anniversary was the occasion for which the clans had gathered.

Rev. J. E. Carver was the orator of the evening and in his opening remarks he said he was not Scotch by birth, but his address proved it was not for him to have been born in Scotland to be inspired to eloquence in speaking on a Burns theme. In part, he said:

"All the English-speaking people of the world who love poetry and song," said the minister, "today bow in homage to the Scotch poet, whose harmonies, so attuned to nature and the natural order of things, are as alive today as they were when they were created. They bow in respect to his genius and rejoice with him in his lines, some of which are as lulling music and others as blithe and gay as the breezes of Scotland. In his every work there is that spirit that is characteristic of the land in which he was born. Who could think of Burns apart from his native land? Who could dissociate the poet of the highlands from the rocky, wind-blown spaces that were his familiar haunts. The crags of Scotland were his to conjure by and seem to reflect the spirit that dominated the man and the poet, too. The genius of Burns and the man cannot be separated, for while his works appear to have a touch of the divine, the same inherent qualities that were to be found in the man were reflected also in his verse. Thus, through his poetry, we are able to see Burns the man, who, although long since dead, is still among us as a living presence.

"Can any higher tribute be paid than in giving recognition to the work or service he performs we also take into consideration the hardships he braved to attain the highest standard—that of perfection? Burns' fight against poverty and ignorance is not unlike that of Abraham Lincoln. We honor him for his heroism—that indomitable will that impelled him to triumph over obstacles. And he honor him doubly because he cannot be con-

OVERWORKED MOTHER
Finds Health In Our Vinol
Collinsville, Ill.—"I suffered from a nervous breakdown and terrible headaches and was tired all over, totally worn out and discouraged, but as I had a large family I had to work despite my suffering. I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it, and within two weeks I noticed a decided improvement, and now I am a well woman."—Mrs. ANA BECKER.

AN AGED COUPLE
Tell How They Regained Strength and Vigor
Steubenville, Ohio.—"My husband is 79 years old and I am 73 years of age and we owe our good health to Vinol, the greatest strength creator and medicine there is. When either one of us get into a weakened, run-down condition, Vinol has never failed to build us up and restore strength. We have often said we would not be living now were it not for Vinol!"—MART A. LEE.

POULTRY SHOW TO BE HELD IN OGDEN DURING THE FAIR WITH A. P. A. CONVENTION

Ogden, as the place for holding the annual convention and show of the American Poultry association in 1917, became a hope in the minds of the members of the Weber County Poultry association today and a campaign to make this hope a reality is to be pressed with vigor.

The suggestion that the A. P. A. be invited to come to Ogden was made by E. E. Smith of Bountiful, Davis county, the second oldest member of the association and one of the ranking poultry judges of the United States. He scored the birds at the great show held at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1915, at San Francisco, and today said that he could see no reason why that show could not be duplicated, particularly as far as entries of American birds are concerned. He also felt confident that Ogden could land the 1917 convention.

Judge W. W. Browning and Manager J. H. Shafer of the Weber county show, now being held under the auspices of the A. P. A., in the De-Eccles building, and other members of the county association accepted the suggestion with enthusiasm and a committee was immediately formed to present the proposition to the Weber club and Ogden Publicity Bureau. While the committee was unable upon the short notice to have an official conference with the directorates of these "booster" organizations, in conversation with individual directors, it was given assurance that both the club and publicity bureau would give all possible support in staging the big convention.

Should the proposition be successful, it will mean a visit of hundreds of poultrymen from every part of the country to Ogden and the staging of the biggest poultry show ever held in the intermountain country. The annual convention of the A. P. A. was held last year at Cleveland, O. Several hundred people, including many from out-of-town communities, visited the show rooms today and admired the poultry on exhibition and the cups which some of the exhibitors had won. The doors will be open every night until midnight and the show is well worth the attention of the local public.

Birth Control Propagandist May Be Fed Forcibly by Prison Medical Board.
New York, Jan. 25.—The "hunger strike" began Monday night by Mrs. Ethel Byrne, who is serving a thirty-day term following conviction as a birth control propagandist, is gradually weakening the woman, according to today's bulletin of the prison physician.

Her blood pressure was "within normal limits but wavering," the bulletin said, while her temperature was slightly below normal and pulse "had moderately weakened." At noon today she had fasted nearly 90 hours.

The commissioner said it rested with the prison medical board to decide whether Mrs. Byrne would be fed forcibly if she persisted in refusing to eat.

determining the conditions on which such a peace shall be made permanent," because a peace which did not include Brazil could not prevent a renewal of the war, the emperor continued. "There must be peace, I say without victory."

Both of you want the same object and neither of you can get all you want. The foundation of peace is the equality of states, whether they are slaveholding or not, and equality implies freedom."

Mr. Harrison adds that President Lincoln did not reply to the emperor and is reported to have said to his secretary: "Take no notice of this hypocritical swaggerer. The devil might as well preach a sermon that the only godly peace was to give men and nations free play to break the dead catalogue."

Daily Market Report

WALL STREET.
New York, Jan. 26.—Prices fell away fractionally in the first hour on the unusual profit taking but rallied were the rule later, except in shippings and Texas company. Equipments became prominent in the second hour, Air-brake gaining six points with 1 to 2-12 for General Electric, American Can and American and Baldwin Locomotives. Further accumulation of the United States Steel was noted in the large individual offerings at an extreme gain of a point. Western Union and Montana Power were among the few strong utilities at gains of 2 to 3 points. Dealings in bonds were at a minimum with an irregular tone.
